During this past weekend, Dees Motorsports headed east this time, to Salamanca, NY chasing the ISOC National Racing circuit. Battling snowstorms on the way to the races and all the way back home made for an "exciting" adventure!

After the long 17 hour drive, Neil geared up and was ready to compete in the Transition 9-13 class for Friday's show. He had two pretty good qualifying heats, coming in with 4th and 6th places, securing a 9th pick start in the front row of the final. In the final, Neil came off the line with a great start. Will in 4th place he was hit from behind and by 2 other sleds, sending Neil and his sled over on its side. He was now a half of a lap behind the field, but he was able to get the sled back upright and get back in the race. After a long fought battle he was able to conclude the day with a 11 place finish.
